Capilano University, formerly Capilano College, was established by Provincial Charter as a comprehensive, publicly funded post-secondary institution in 1968. In May 2003, provincial legislation was passed authorizing Capilano College to confer applied undergraduate degrees. In April 2008, provincial legislation was passed to redesignate Capilano as a University. Capilano University is a member of the Association of Canadian Community Colleges (ACCC) and is accredited by the Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities (NWCCU).

The University's instruction year is comprised of three four-month terms. The Fall term commences in September and ends in December. The Spring term commences in January and ends in April. The Summer term is comprised of Session I (May and June), Session II (July and August), and Full Term (May to August).

A credit represents a minimum of one hour per week per term of classroom work. Most Capilano University courses carry three credits but these may require more than three hours of classroom work per week per term or the equivalent in labs, conversations, tutorials, etc.

TERM GRADE POINT AVERAGE

The term grade point average is calculated by dividing the total number of grade points earned for a term by the total number of credits attempted in the term, excluding courses where the final grade is not calculated in the GPA.

CUMULATIVE GRADE POINT AVERAGE

The cumulative grade point average is calculated by dividing the total number of grade points earned by the total number of credits attempted, excluding courses where the final grade is not calculated in the GPA. If a course is repeated, the grade for each attempt will be recorded on the student's transcript. Repeated courses included in the cumulative grade point average calculation are denoted with an "I" under the column labeled R (Repeat). Excluded courses are denoted with an "E".
